Description	This two-story brick building has been covered in painted stucco at the street level. The first floor entry has been updated with aluminum storefront. The windows are box displays with brick courses underneath. There are three inset entrance doors; the one in the middle at 323 First Street is for access to the second story. The doors appear to be original with infilled transoms at addresses 321 and 325. There is a barber pole at the east end of the façade. A modern awning has been added which now displays signage for the building. There is a two-foot strip above the storefronts that had a leaded glass transom which is infilled. The second story has four one-over-one double-hung windows separated by pilasters with square caps. Each window has a single protruding keystone centered above it. A band of decorative brick with four inset rectangles is located above the windows. There is a simple row of brick that caps the façade. A block addition is at the rear (north elevation). The north elevation windows have arched openings and are mostly original. Two entrances access the first and second floor.

	 Prior to the Fire of 1904, there was a Chinese laundry at this location. The current building was constructed soon after the fire and noted as the Gussenhoven Building in the 1913 to 1916 Polk Directories. Bernard Strouse, jeweler, optician, and watchmaker in the late 1900s early 1910s, had his business here. The building is also shown as a jewelry store and print shop on the 1910 Sanborn Fire Insurance Map. The Polk Directories in 1914 indicate the Havre Promoter and Independent occupied the storefront at 325 First Street. The subscription to the papers sold for $2 a year and the publisher at that time was Louis W. Pierson. The Hill County Democrat's address was listed at 323 First Street with J.K. Bramble, proprietor. Bramble's wife operated the boarding hous on the second floor. The 1915 to 1916 Fenton Directory noted this building as the Bramble Block with offices at 323 First Street for Shepard and Pierson, who were in the real estate, abstract, and loan business, and the location of W.F. Templeton, an osteopathic doctor. The Club Café was at 321 First Street and operated by J.P. Papavireris and Spiros Arvanitis who also lived upstairs. Doctor C.E. Foss, physician, an J.B. Grady, plumber, occupied 321 ½ address. In 1929, 321 First Street was the Reichel Malt House and the 323 storefront was the Palm Room. From the 1930s to the 1940s, 321 was the location for the Cascade Café, 323 was Palm Rooms, and 325 was the Bob Inn Beauty and Barber Shop and later Havre Printing Company The Cascade Café continued into the 1950s. The building has continuously served as a barber shop/salon for almost 60 years as it is now Kleen Kut and Mane Attraction. 					tchmaker in the late 1900s early hoorn Fire Insurance Map. The Integrity	The building has undergone some modification including exterior changes, however, these changes could be reversed. It retains a good degree of integrity at the first and second stories with original doors and openings.

Statement of Significance	architectu	ing is historically significant as it has been the location of a barber shop/salon continuously for almost 60 years. It is a significant ral example of the Western Commercial style, and gains additional significance for its associations with the commercial ent of the community.
